Dear

I resign. I've carefully considered my departure for at least six minutes now and I'm off to start my new job at Trade Me. I'm not leaving because it's above a brewery, or for the harbour view, you can't seduce me that easily. It's really more about the fact that Trade Me rips the pants off any other online company in New Zealand and that's where I should be. So effective immediately, I'm Trade Me's newest, and stoked-est Business Analyst/Project Manager BDM - Property Senior Database Specialist Internet Systems Engineer Senior Web Developer & Project Manager SQL Reporting Analyst Sales Executive (telephone based) Jobs Account Manager (x2) Senior Account Manager - Display Advertising Advertising Sales Executive Customer Support Rep (x3) Solicitor.

Right then, I'm off, in fact I've probably already left the building/hit the bar with my new workmates.

Yours sincerely happy,

.....
